

LEGAL AND PRIVACY DISCLAIMER LEGAL AND PRIVACY DISCLAIMER

Pirate Studio is an above the ground autonomous space. Our work remains within the boundaries of applicable laws, except in cases of civil disobedience, which is conducted in the tradition of justified nonviolent change. We will make all due efforts to safeguard privacy of donors, supporters, and members. We will not share personal information with anyone unless specifically authorized to do so by the person in question. We do not collect any personally identifying information from visitors to our website other than information that is knowingly and voluntarily given. However, it is important to realize that government and private security agencies may be monitoring traffic to this website. Please contact us if you have any questions.

DISCLAIMER FOR ARTICLE SHARING Please be reminded that once you share and send your article on us, either that's your original write up or from other sources, there will be a possibility that was going to published and share that on our site, news, email and other social media platform.